Description:

Reading and research on a specific topic in physics or related field under the direction of a faculty member.

Justification:

What: Updating schedule type, repeat, grade mode, and prereqs.

Why: Changes were made to match the wording of the parallel course ASTR 796 (as amended) and to reflect how this course is actually used (i.e., it is taken repeatedly within the degree primarily by PhD students for regular grades).

Does this course cover material which No crosses into another department?
